

Victor Mallet

Victor Mallet is an award-winning journalist, commentator and author with three decades of experience in Europe, Asia, the Middle East and Africa. He is currently Asia news editor for the Financial Times. Previously he was bureau chief in South Asia based in New Delhi, bureau chief in Madrid and Asia editor in Hong Kong. From there, he managed the FT's coverage of the Asia-Pacific and wrote editorials, columns and features on security, politics, economics and business. His new book about the Ganges, River of Life, River of Death: The Ganges and India's Future is published worldwide by Oxford University Press. His highly praised book on the south-east Asian industrial revolution and the 1997-98 Asian financial crisis, The Trouble with Tigers (HarperCollins), was first published in 1999. He twice won the Society of Publishers in Asia award for opinion writing. In India, he was twice awarded the Ramnath Goenka Award for Excellence in Journalism as a foreign correspondent, once for a feature about the rise of Narendra Modi and later for a magazine article on the River Ganges.